The United States Brew rs' association, represented by Louis B. It was claimed that the process and ingredients used in making beer were substantially the same now as before the pure food law was passed.

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, chief chemist, who heads that board, shared honors with the ancient convivialists by announcing early that his chief complaint was that too little beer was found in the ordinary glass of commerces sold to the thirsty.

"I'm tired of buying foam," said the pure food expert hotly. "There should be a line on glasses indicating where solid beer ends."

Dr. Wiley looked thirstily on the pitcher that adorned the speaker's table. It contained only water.

CONFESSED BRIBE TAKER AS WITNESS

Charles A. White Begins His San Story Before Lorimer Investigating Committee.

WASHINGTON, July 31.-Charles A White, who, after running the gamut from street car conductor to member of the Illinois legislature, confessed to recelving money to vote for William Lori-mer for the United States senate, today began to reel his story before the senate Lorimer committee. He was the first witness at the previous Lorimer investi-gation. His examination is expected to last three or four days.

White produced many testimonials of good character and ability from schools he had attended in his youth and from former employers.

he had attended in his youth and from former employers.

Explaining that he wished to show the source from which White obtained his food for thought, Attorney A. J. Marble. for the committee, asked the witness what he was reading at the time he was elected to the legislature.

White mentioned these: Lawson's Magazine articles on high finance exposure, which he characterized as a "pretty good piece of work."

"The Jungle." by Upton Sinclair, exposing the stockyards—a splendid piece of work.

Four volumes of Roman history—about the Carthaginians, the Syrians—and that class of stuff.

Various labor magazines and the daily newspapers of St. Louis.

The witness said that before he was elected to the legislature he had heard of several men who had taken bribes and then exposed the bribers. He said he told his supporters during the campaign that if he was elected he would expose any corruption at Springfield, but he denied saying he would take the bribe in doing so.

The witness was producing letters from Lee O'Neill Browne in reference to the organization of the house when the committee adjourned until tomorrow.

Mrs. Dora C. Gallagher, Former Treas urer of Cincinnati Home of Tuberculosis, Now in Asylum.

CINCINNATI, July 31.—That $25,317 was the discrepancy in the books of Mrs. Dora C. Gallagher as treasurer of the Home of Incurables of this city was announced today after directors of the home and representatives of Mrs. Gallagher had reached a settlement.

Andrew D. Cadwallader of Los Angeles, brother of Mrs. Gallagher, pays $7000 in cash; the home of the incurables is given an equity in certain stocks and bonds in Mrs. Gallagher's possession; all Mrs. Gallagher's rights in her real estate, her home on McMillan street, as well as other lots, are turned over to the home. Her property is valued at between $16.000 and $17,000. It is mort-gaged to the extent of $6000.

Dr. J. Cadwallader, another brother of Mrs. Gallagher, was appointed her guardian by the probate court today. Mrs. Gallagher is now in Longview asylum, a county institution.

GREAT INCREASE IN DIVORCE SUITS

Some Strong Remarks on Subject of Marriage by Kansas City Juvenile Court Judge.

KANSAS CITY, July 31.—Nineteen hundred marriage licenses have been issued in this city since January 1 and during that time 600 suits for divorce have been filed. This shows an increase in the number of divorce suits brought here, as a year ago it was found that a ratio of one divorce suit to every four marriage licenses was maintained.

Judge Porterfield of the juvenile court said today that the situation demanded immediate improvement.

"Instead of devoting so much attention to the question of more stringent divorce laws," he said, "it would be far better to make more stringent laws governing marriages. You cannot legislate divorces and broken homes out of existence so long as just anybody can get married regardless of mental and physical defects.

"There should be a commission to pass on the mental and physical condition of applicants for marriage licenses and on the carning capacity of men."

Offered His Services.

In a hearing enlivened with frequent and bitter clashes between the two Wickershams, it developed that the delegate from Alaska had offered his legal services in 1908 to the Guggenheim interests in the Northwestern Commercial company for a salary of $15,000 a year and the maintenance of office headquarters in Seattle.

"Were you ever in the employ of the Guggenheim interests?" asked Representative Sterling of Illinois.

"Never," said Delegate Wickersham. "Did they ever seek to employ you?" "Yes," said the delegate. "Stephen Burch wrote to me in 1908 and asked if I would take a position as counsel for the Northwestern Commercial company."

"What did you say?" asked Mr. Sterling.

Was Not Employed.

"I said I would take a place as their counsel for an annual salary of $15,000, they to equip offices in Seattle," said Mr. Wickersham. "After I answered the letter nothing more was said about it and they employed other attorneys. If they had paid me what I asked I would have been their attorney and I think that would have saved them a lot of trouble." "How?" asked Representative Littleton of New York.

of New York.

"Through my adivice to them to keep away from criminal practices."

The Alaskan delegate renewed his statements that the attorney general had shielded and protected law-breakers who represented the Guggenheim interests in Alaska. Members of the judiciary committee frequently called upon him to prove statements he made and in some cases challenged the sufficiency of his proof.

Attorney General Wickersham declared that the charges of the Alaskan delegate called for vigorous denial from the government officials.

"He has seen fit to make charges against me which it was his duty to prove before this committee if he could do so," said the attorney general; "and I submit to the committee that he has not proved his statements."

The Alaskan delegate repeatedly criticised the officials of Alaska, said the Guggenhelms "owned the government" there and made general charges of the officials being influenced by them.

He sought to prove that United States Marshal H. K. Love had extorted money from his deputy marshals by making them "divide the graft" collected in the profit from boarding prisoners. The government allows $3 per day for each prisoner.

Delegate Wickersham criticised the attorney general because he had not brought prosecutions on the Guggenheim coal claims, and the latter retorted that no proof had been furnished him unon which he could proceed. ## SECOND DRILL HOLE MISSES ITS MARK

Joseph Clary, Aged 23, Imprisoned in Mine 78 Feet Below Surface of the Earth.

RESCUE FORCES WORK HARD

Shaft Being Sunk in Addition to the Effort to Furnish Air With the Drill.

JOPLIN, Mo., July 31 .- A second drill hole sunk above the mine drift where Joseph Clary, 23 years old, son of a prominent mine operator, is imprisoned seventy-eight feet below the surface of the earth, missed its mark today and at 3 o'clock this afternoon another hole was started. At 6 o'clock tonight it had been sunk fifty feet.

Both the first and second drill holes were started directly above the drift in which the young prospector was entombed when the soft dirt through which the shaft had been sunk caved in early Sunday morning. Neither of the drills, however, penetrated the drift, having been deflected, it is be-lieved, by striking hard rock. Though the shaft of the mine goes through soft ground, the drift itself underlies limestone and it may take hours to drill through this.

At the shaft hundreds of volunteers At the shaft hundreds of volunteers are taking turns at the excavating and the rescue shaft has been sunk twenty feet and is progressing fast. At the drill volunteers are also taking turns at the work and watching them are thousands of persons attracted by the reports of young Clary's plight. One of the most pathetic sights at the mine is the father of the victim. Thomas Clary, one of the oldest mine operators in this district. Since 8 o clock Sunday morning he has left the mine only long enough to partake of food but once, and then he ate only a few mouthfuls, hurrying back, telling his family he would not leave again until his son was found.

The drillers expect to have the third hole down to the drift by midnight, if the steel bit is not again deflected, and they expect to find young Clary alive, because of the limestone covering of the drift, which is forty feet long. The roof of the drift is seventy-eight feet below the surface of the earth, while the floor is about ten feet below this. It is believed here that enough air was Sir Alexander Ackland Hood, who is now known as Lord St. Audries.

At this dinner Mr. Balfour, leader of the opposition, is expected to speak in an effort to pave the way for a modus vivendi between the opposing sections of the party.

Both sides appear to be tending to this direction. Lord Willoughby de Brooks who is organizing the insurgents, today for the first time admitted that his party had gained no accessions in strength. Lord Lansdowne tonight issued a letter discountenancing the idea of any Unionist peers voting in the government lobby for the veto bill.

This belated decision on the part of Lord Lansdowne probably means that he has secured sufficient support to make the Halsburyities powerless against the votes of the Liberal peers and, therefore, there is no longer any necessity for Viscount St. Aldwyn to come to the government's assistance, as it was runnored he would, by taking into the government lobby sufficient Unionist peers to outvote the Halsburyites in cases they challenged a division.

the Halsburyltes in cases they challenged a division.

That the tension has lessened is shown by the fact that King George has decided to remain at Cowes the rest of the week. There is still a strong belief in the lobbles of parliament, however, that Premier Asquith, in order to guard against surprises, will have created a batch of about fifty peers before again trusting the veto bill to the house of lords.

BITTER CAMPAIGN OVER RECIPROCITY

Opposition Leaders in Canada Three Bandits Loot the B Fight Treaty, but Some Will Not Seek Re-Election.

OTTAWA. July 31.—The election campaign will not be in full swing for a fortnight. As it is nearly seven weeks before election day and the usual length of a campaign is a month, both parties feel that they profitably can devote some time to perfecting organization before platform work is inaugurated vigorously. Prime Minister Laurier is not expected to start until the end of next week upon his speaking tour with ratification of the reciprocity agreement with the United States as the vital issue. Clifford Sitten, formerly minister of the interior, today issued a letter urging Canadians to vote against reciprocity, which he declares would prove injurious to Canada and the British empire.

Supporters of reciprocity and followers of the government regard as significant Mr. Sifton's announcement today that he will not seek re-election to parliament.

Mr. Sifton's decision not to run was taken by Liberals as indicating his recognition of the popularity of reciprocity in spite of the fact that he is fighting it. They also doclare that he is fighting it. They also doclare that the fact that Henri Bourassa, leader of the National party of Quebec, has announced that he will not be a candidate for election, indicates that Quebec will again give solid support to Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

While the government will endeavor to keep reciprocity as the dominant and if possible the only issue of the campaign, the manifesto of Opposition Leader Borden shows that his candidates will bring to the fore other issues. For one thing, the government will be denounced as having been a party to various alleged scandals that have been discussed in parliament.
